When Wishes Come True

Published by

Maple Press Private Limited
Corporate & Editorial Office
A 63, Sector 58, Noida 201 301, U.P., India

phone:+91 120 455 3581, 455 3583 email info@maplepress.co.in, website www.maplepress.co.in

Copyright © Maple Press Private Limited
ALL RIGHTS RESERVED. No part of this book may be reproduced or transmitted in any form by any means, electronic or mechanical, including photocopying and recording, or by any information storage and retrieval system, except as may be expressly permitted in writing by the publisher.

MAPLE KIDS

Subal Chandra was fed up with his son Sushil's mischief.

One day, Sushil did not want to go to school as he wanted to avoid the Geography test and enjoy the display of fireworks at a function that evening.

As an excuse, Sushil complained of a stomach-ache!

Subal, fully aware of his son's trick, prepared a herbal tonic and forced Sushil to drink it. He then locked the room and left, thinking, "If only I could be young once again, I'd spend all my time studying hard."

Inside the locked room, Sushil was upset that his trick had failed. He wished that he could be older so he could do whatever he pleased!

The goddess who granted wishes was passing by. She heard them and granted their wishes!

The next morning, Subal woke up a young boy, while Sushil, had turned into a grown man, with a beard and a moustache! They became excited as their wishes had come true.

Soon, Sushil realised that he is not able to climb trees and jump out of bed as before. His friends also became frightened on seeing him much older.

Meanwhile, Subal too had a tough time. He hated studying or going to school. Moreover, his friends chased him away on seeing his changed appearance.

The father and son were unhappy that their wishes had come true.

Finally, one day, they were fed up and wished that things went back to the way they were earlier.

The goddess was watching all this and she smiled to herself. She appeared before them and said, “Your wishes will be granted. You will turn into your old selves when you wake up tomorrow morning.”

The next day, things were back to the way they were as Subal woke up an older man and Sushil found himself young again. Life was once again back to normal!